Cleaning workers need your support and help!

Cleaning workers in the Kurdistan Region have been protesting for six days over a salary delay in Kakamand's area (in Sulaymaniyah), and despite the fact that they have been without wages for 65 days. Neither the Kurdistan Regional Government nor the employers have responded to their demands so far.

These workers' monthly wages are only 300,000 dinars, which companies can afford to pay. Companies appear to be delaying their salaries under the pretext that the government has not provided them with advance payments, despite the fact that workers have not signed a contract stating that if companies are not provided with advance money, the latter have the right to postpone workers' monthly payments.

The workers need your support to get their salaries paid. And also any financial assistance, as well as food, clothing, medicine, milk, and diapers, will be vital first steps for the striking workers' families.

You can send your letter of protest to the KRG representatives in support of the workers’ demands to the following email: uk@gov.krd

Respectfully,
