HANDS OFF PORTUGAL!

2pm. Charing Cross. Saturday 20th September

DEMONSTRATE

NO ECONOMIC BOYCOTT ■ BIG BUSINESS, NATO, CIA—HANDS OFF PORTUGAL
■ PORTUGAL MUST NOT BECOME ANOTHER CHILE ■ SOLIDARITY WITH THE WORKERS' AND NEIGHBOURHOOD COMMITTEES ■ SOLIDARITY WITH M.P.L.A.

ORANGEMEN SPLIT OVER STRATEGY AS CONVENTION COLLAPSES

Has the Convention strategy of the British government for Northern Ireland broken down? The massive vote of the UUIC (with only one party abstaining) against "power sharing" in a coalition with the SDLP would seem to wrap up the Convention and bring down the curtain, for now, on attempts to find a 'solution' within Northern Ireland.

The government's true that the inept, inept and bungling approach to the question of this whole which—would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

Craig's hand and the SDLP's far limited rallying to it suggests the following scenario: Vanguard willsdetach from the Gandhian coalition. The SDLP will accept the Gander coalition should be for an emergency period. The stand of the more 'extreme' Vanguard group will allow the major element in the UUIC the official Unionist Party to regain the initiative.

The prospect is then open for an attempt to re-start the 1973/4 rule by a coalition of Ulster Unionists and SDLP, with Craig probably playing the role previously played by Faulkner. A political grouping and re-alignment and the result "of the state will be on the Northern Ireland electorate.

Present indications, such as the obvious defection of the UDA line, the major paramilitary group, is a partial indication of the possible strength, as big elements of the Orange side draw back from the brink of civil war.

Brink

The UUIC is clearly split — and Craig represents far more than his one vote in favour of an 'emergency' coalition with the SDLP (for, perhaps a few seconds to suggest. The support it brought for his position by the UDA, the major paramilitary group, is a partial indication of the possible strength, as big elements of the Orange side draw back from the brink of civil war.

Thus it is almost incredible that Craig, former leader of the Ulster Unionists, can continue to be involved in the affairs of the UDA line at all. Craig probably did not previously believe that the SDLP were a republican Trojan horse, rather than the moderate force they are seen linking together in one party the interests of the Southern and Northern Irish ruling classes, and the British ruling class.

The UDA line is also a partial safety valve to the central question of this whole episode — would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

The government's true that the inept, inept and bungling approach to the question of this whole which—would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

The government's true that the inept, inept and bungling approach to the question of this whole which—would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

Craig stands in Unionist ranks as the Minister of Home Affairs martyred in the unceasing bombardment of the famous Derry civil rights demonstrations. On the occasion of the Great Orange walk, the riot at the start of the parade was "triumphantly" attacked by the police. Expecting the parade to end in violence, he had warned the police to expect the expected violence.

The SDLP line is a partial safety valve to the central question of this whole episode — would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

CRAIG'S HAND AND THE SDLP SPLIT OVER STRATEGY AS CONVENTION COLLAPSES

The SDLP line is a partial safety valve to the central question of this whole episode — would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

The government's true that the inept, inept and bungling approach to the question of this whole which—would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

The government's true that the inept, inept and bungling approach to the question of this whole which—would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.

The government's true that the inept, inept and bungling approach to the question of this whole which—would the paramilitaries allow the politicians to do a deal? It appears that some of the say, anyway, will. The Ulster Workers Council has opposed Craig's position, but it is immensely difficult to gauge the importance of this since it is not known how many of the memberships of this two umbrella groupings, the one industrial, the other paramilitary.
Benn plan leaves government leaders cold

THE LETTER which Anthony  Westminster. Benn has sent to his constituency South East of Labour’s official rank-and-file meeting to tell the "small investors" that they are 14th-century right to their "little investment". Referring to a "long, deep and shady path" by the end of 80s) he’s opposing a slashing of public service expenditure called for by the Department of the Environment’s notorious Circular 87/85. We have got to defend,” Benn says “essential public spending which he would still rely on the Government to tinkering with capitalism in this or that way.

RADICAL

In his speech on behalf of the General Council of TUC, Mr. Murphy cited the argument of “...the strength of the Government’s recent moves. It is the language of National Capitalism. The fact is that the common tongue of British trade unionism doesn’t lend itself to any particular strength to the proposals. All it does is allow the members of the unions to express a conversion to ‘revive’ the movement for the right wing on all essentials of policy... without changing the terms of its argument. That is the essence of Jack’s shift.

Savage

But he isn’t the only one. In an amendment of the resolution, Jack’s escape from the Government’s anti-working class policies in their conference full of Jack’s Jack’s ‘fairness’ and the ‘middle’ of the centre-left argument that, is, outright right wing property owners were defeated in favour of the ones pressing “labeled ‘men of the left’.

And yet, will this “left shift on the General Council” make any difference to the policy on essentials?”

Dave Roberts

TUC: ALL CAUGHT UP BELIEVIN’ IN THE ‘INEVITABILITY OF CAPITALISM’

Placing our own downfall

DEOMTED

Instead of a massive increase in house building, there’s been a decrease in building workers’ wages and unemployment.

MURRAY

guiding them to the bench, to the right hand of the seat of power.

Poverty

Since the fall of the Tory government every package of social services measures has been sold with wage cuts in order to swallow this and you’ll be closer to the seat of power. Then the Social Contract — whatever some trade union leaders might has been sold with wage cuts in order to swallow this and you’ll be closer to the seat of power. Then the Social Contract — whatever some trade union leaders might has been sold with wage cuts in order to swallow this and you’ll be closer to the seat of power. Then the Social Contract — whatever some trade union leaders might has been sold with wage cuts in order to swallow this and you’ll be closer to the seat of power. Then the Social Contract — whatever some trade union leaders might has been sold with wage cuts in order to swallow this and you’ll be closer to the seat of power. Then the Social Contract — whatever some trade union leaders might has been sold with wage cuts in order to swallow this and you’ll be closer to the seat of power.

SECRET

One of the things that will go if local authorities are forced to cut social services is the Department of the Environment and their local authority colleagues.

Talk of equality is pretty meaningless if work, or continue to do. They need the right to defend the document to the power and time of events.”

Agenda

These ‘events’ of course will not be the democratic processes of the Labour Party, but the series of administrative actions of the coming conference. The agenda for the conference will seek to include a group of representatives of the constituency parties for various versions of a "better" state-owned state-control proposals.

Paul Adams

The same unions that dominate the council manual workers are about to lose the hospital ancillary workers. They must resist further cuts in their September to finalise their clarifying and expected to adopt the same formula according to the council workers’ council.

COHSE, which was due to renew, will be renewed for the same 10 years period with TUC policy which is a further weapon in order to stop on the Tories’ anti

Dave Roberts
OPPOSE THE SOCIAL DEMOCRAT CONNECTION "HANDS OFF PORTUGAL!"

HEINZU used to buy tomatoes from Portugal. Now it goes to Chile for them. Whether or not the money funding Paramount film "Jaws" has yet reached Lisbon, Portuguese workers are already familiar with the sensations it is said to evoke. For well over a year now, the sharks of international capitalist reaction have been eyeing Portugal. They took two swipes at Portugal in Europe last March. More insidiously are the European Community’s capitalist organs already familiar with the brand of cheap, police-repressed labour, and import control shaped on Portuguese goods. European capitalists organised through the EEC has threatened a total economic blockade.

According to a leaflet published by the Solidarity Campaign with the Portuguese People working Committee, "NATO manoeuvres in Portugal show that the EEC has already agreed to a belated readmission of NATO and US troops to readiness to enter Portugal. Detection of a US intelligence centre aboard a ship anchored in Setubal, are facts that point to the involvement of all of the EEC states in the preparation of the two attempted coups. A fortnight ago, it was even possible to read an open letter exposing some of the staff of the American Embassy, including the Ambassador, as active members of the CIA, and that through the Embassy, the CIA is involved, in the running of the church, the right wing parties, and into the electoral campaign of the Portuguese Socialist Party.

Now the British Labour Party’s International Socialism committee has decided to commit the Party to join the picket, and sink its teeth in. This follows a meeting on Friday 5th between Harold Wilson, Socialist Party leader Mauro Soares, and five leaders of European social democrats. They agreed to intervene in Portuguese politics on behalf of the SP, in the interests of "democracy and socialism."

Demonstrate Saturday, 20 September

Above: Ron Hayward embraces Portuguese Socialist Party leader Mauro Soares. But Labour Party members are now questioning whether the connection should continue. Below: So much for press freedom - SP members are banned from going to CP paper O Secessa.

THE REVOLUTIONARY UNITED FRONT "IS, SHOULD KNOW BETTER"

"Its political logic... would tend to make the 'united front', not a body which would defend the working class against the right while allowing revolutionary activity to be conducted in co-operation with the criminal class of politicians and energetic bureaucrats of the CP, but a means of eradicating the policies of the CP..."

The SPD assessed the 'revolutionary united front' of the Portuguese left in last week's Workers' Fight. Since we wrote that article, the most of the political platform of the revolutionary united front' has been published, in Red Weekly (paper of the IMG) of 4th September and in Rouge (paper of the Communist Left (LSM)), of 11th August.

That text fully confirms our position and analysis of the "united front". It is a statement of support for the policies of the Communist Left: banning of the LCI, Portuguese section of the Fourth International, the reactions to the LCI endorsement of 5th Provisional Government have been contradictory.

by Chris Reynolds

Party and support for the pro-CP 5th Provisional Government. Popular Assemblies and other bodies of workers' power are springing up in Portugal. The task of revolutionary socialists should be to orientate these bodies towards complete political independence from the disintegrating Armed Forces Movement, towards national coordination, towards the arming of the workers and towards the seizure of power. But the 'revolutionary united front' supports the government document 'Line of programmatic action...', and says the 'way forward for the revolutionary process' is unity between revolutionaries, the whole of the AEP, and the party dominating the 5th Provisional Government, the Communist Party. And just at the time when the discontent among CP worker members against their party's bureaucratic and class collaborationist policies is at its highest.

In Red Weekly and in Rouge, the text of the 'revolutionary united front' agreement is accompanianded by an article by Ernest Mandel, a leading member of the United Secretariat of the Fourth International, to which both the IMG and the LCI are affiliated. The article condemns the 'united front' quite clearly and correctly.

A resolution of the Central Committee of the LCR, printed in Rouge of 5th September, also condemns the 'united front'. (In addition it opposes, as WFT has done, the slogan 'Disarm the Constituent Assembly Now').

However, the USFI seems to be trying to have it both ways. The LCI, Portuguese affiliate of the USFI, supported, and by all accounts still supports, the 'revolutionary united front'. Red Weekly describes this as a "tactical error", though clearly it is more than tactical. Nor is it an error which can be put at the account of inexperienced comrades in Portugal, or even new (it had 22 members in April 1974) and has to face crucial revolutionary and, in particular, the explosion of the working class 'front'.

Further, the same issue of Rouge that carries the Central Committee resolution condemning the 'united front', also carries a joint declaration of the LCR and the PSU (a French leftist party), saying: "The PSU and LCR reject at the relations of unity which exist today between various revolutionary organisations and the Portuguese Communist Party...". Trying to uphold the "front" position against the workers' right, the sentence is reduced to nonsense: "...despite judgments which they [ie the LCR and PSI] may make on the condition of the agreement which has been made..."

However, when we turn to the pages of Socialist Worker (paper of the US group in France), we find that the wooliness and federalism of the USFI seems to have returned soothing the workers' power. As a result, the CP spoiled it by their tactics on the "revolutionary front" demonstration. (Apparently the "united front", with its pro-government platform - which SW does not mention - would have been in the majority of grass roots working class democracy.

Only four months later, SP rallies attracted the largest gatherings of increasingly middle class adherents.

Portuguese workers have watched as the SP mounted a hysteric much of the campaign decried the 'killing of democracy' by military rule and on the first day of the campaign, the very day the SP signed a pact with the AFM agreeing to 3-5 years of mili- tary overlordship, and three months later, Soares gave whole-hearted support to Antunes' 'Declaration of Independence'. When the Popular Assemblies, one of the Party had already alienated thousands of workers by its anti-strike policies in government and in opposition to the spouting organs, the 4th, 5th and 6th congresses of the CP Portugal, denounced them as 'unconstitutional.'

Meanwhile, the SP had opened up the road for the extreme right. It chose to hold mass rallies in the north, where its anti communist campaign would fall on the most primitive, priest ridden, ignorant ears. As an article in the latest issue of Our Common Struggle describ- ed, it, the right wing 'began to call for support for the SP rallies. During the period of maximum SP activity in the north, the right wing parties, such as the PFP and CDSP, did not even bother to hold any public meetings of their own - they would merely turn up at the SP rallies.

The anti communist atmosphere in the north, its anti communist campaign would fall on the most primitive, priest ridden, ignorant ears. As an article in the latest issue of Our Common Struggle describes it, the right wing began to call for support for the SP rallies. During the period of maximum SP activity in the north, the right wing parties, such as the PFP and CDSP, did not even bother to hold any public meetings of their own - they would merely turn up at the SP rallies.

The anti communist atmosphere in the north, its anti communist campaign would fall on the most primitive, priest ridden, ignorant ears. As an article in the latest issue of Our Common Struggle describes it, the right wing began to call for support for the SP rallies. During the period of maximum SP activity in the north, the right wing parties, such as the PFP and CDSP, did not even bother to hold any public meetings of their own - they would merely turn up at the SP rallies.

The anti communist atmosphere in the north, its anti communist campaign would fall on the most primitive, priest ridden, ignorant ears. As an article in the latest issue of Our Common Struggle describes it, the right wing began to call for support for the SP rallies. During the period of maximum SP activity in the north, the right wing parties, such as the PFP and CDSP, did not even bother to hold any public meetings of their own - they would merely turn up at the SP rallies.

The anti communist atmosphere in the north, its anti communist campaign would fall on the most primitive, priest ridden, ignorant ears. As an article in the latest issue of Our Common Struggle describes it, the right wing began to call for support for the SP rallies. During the period of maximum SP activity in the north, the right wing parties, such as the PFP and CDSP, did not even bother to hold any public meetings of their own - they would merely turn up at the SP rallies.
Egypt ditches the Palestinians

THE excitement shown by the Western powers over the agreement signed in Egypt and Israel seems at first sight a big fuss about nothing. Certainly the land area and the military arrangements directly affected are insignificant.

There has been a basic agreement to evacuate the land Israel has been occupying in the Sinai peninsula since the June 1967 war; no agreement to have the Gaza strip, the West Bank or anywhere else. The Israelis have agreed to move about 30 miles from where they have been enamped and thus get rid of the strain of the Suez Canal conflict and the rich (but nearly worked out) Abu Rudeis oilfield. In other words, a stretch of land little larger than the old Domination Line has been returned to Egypt.

In return the Egyptians have made a statement calling off all hostilities, both economic and military, and together they have agreed to call on the US to stop the monitoring stations in the buffer zone.

Why the western powers, the "flying Foes" press with its Kremilnologists and Kissingerologists, are cheering is because they feel that this agreement means that their strategy can start rolling again; and if it's only a few inches now, it will, they hope, soon pick up speed.

That strategy, which came to an abrupt halt with the October 1973 war, had been aimed at linking points to supplement Israel's own imperialist strategy, that of Saudi Arabia and Iran against the Arab states.

Of course the nature of the negotiations never came into question the general line of growing agreement between Egypt and Israel. Rather it was a reflection of the changing political scene.

The world speaks in dollars Egyptian government sources say, but the strategy has been in the interest of genuine Palestinian refugee camps, the Israeli-Egypt pact, in endorsing Israeli's existence in what was once Palestine, is a step towards consolidating further generations of Palestinians to the memory of the camps.

The Committee for the Defence of Arab Political Prisoners, in Britain, has been set up after yet further news we have received of arrests of socialists and communists in the Arab East. The latest wave of arrests have been in Egypt, where twenty workers, students and lecturers have been charged with treason, as well as membership to an organisation known as the "Makhzoum Khuzaa Communist Group," The Committee also has news of the hangings of five militiamen alleged to be members of the Arab Communist Organisation, in Syria.

We find these arrests an indication of the mounting repression of Egyptian workers and students carried out by Sadat to ensure the success of his internal and foreign policies. These arrests have followed large working class mobilisations in the industrial district of the Mahala Al Kubra outside Cairo. Several hundred militiamen were also arrested following the January demonstrations of this year. These arrests form part of Sadat's campaign to stop any real form of opposition to his plans for a "peaceful settlement" and the "Egyptian opening" (for foreign capital to exploit cheap Egyptian labour).

Information from Committee for the Defence of Arab Political Prisoners, 18 Finsbury Park Road, Finsbury Park, London N1.

Zionist Egyptian masons, and on Rubin of the ultra-expansionist Zionist right wing organisations.

That the deal did get signed has to do with the economic gains it promises both sides, Egypt will immediately benefit from the US and Saudi Arabian investment. For instance, while for the first time Saudi Arabia visited Cairo in July — a good time for Sadat — he gave Egypt a grant of $500 million to pay off short term debts. In all it's estimated that the 1973 war has promised since the 1973 war. Now Sadat may be able to afford the rest. Israel will receive not only investment funds but a massive arms delivery. They will probably reaps the arms spending burden of the Israeli budget.

Both governments are staking to off any internal disservice — much more explicit and with a big jobs and-money programme.

Sadat's confidence that he can get the Egyptians to accept the settlement is best shown by the open publication of the details of the pact. At the same time the government is taking no chances: the whole of the area press is kept up a barrage of propaganda hailing the deal and showing it as being the best possible deal, and playing down any hints that it is any kind of sell-out.

This has been accompanied by press attacks on the generals in the Palestinian Left because it is quite clear that they are the losers in the deal. Palestinian may have recognised them, but Egypt says it does not have any settlement with a settlement which leaves them entirely.

Yasser Arafat has spoken out against the agreement (see inset) and so he has become a target for attack from Al-Ahram, the official Egyptian newspaper.

The press attack has also coincided with a wave of labour disputes and strikes and further trials to intimidate dissidents. (See inset.)

Syria remains opposed to the deal, and its President Assad has been in Prague this week to support for the latter has he has taken: no separate agreement, and a complete withdrawal by Israel from all the land occupied since 1967, at least.

Despite the "American" and "European" deals and the Middle East situation cannot be seen outside this context. The Russians, it is likely to give reserved support to Assad in Syria wanting to risk losing one of the few areas of its influence and economic penetration in the Arab world now that Egypt will be able to pay its debt to Russia and thus open up more economic ties.

One problem still remains — though that too should be ironed out soon. The US is still very suspicious of the arrangements by whom and what means it will be channelled to be manned by US personnel. They realise that this could lead to disturbances in the area — ironically something which both Egypt and Israel have tried to get in the past. After Vietnam, American politicians have become very wary of that. Despite this, there will be a drive in the US to get the deal going in some way towards safeguarding the interests of the US investments, present and potential, in the region to assure Congressional approval.

PLO Tells 'HOW WE WERE BETRAYED'

The Syrian government has reaffirmed its commitment to the Palestinian cause, in his organisation's reaction to the new Egypt-Israel agreement.

In an interview in the US magazine People Against War, Mr. Arafat, the leader of the Palestinian Liberation Organisation, said: "Mr. Sadat's decision was expected, because he had to accept the pressures of the UN and the US. It is a betrayal of the Palestinian people... This new agreement is a betrayal of the hopes of the Palestinian people, who have been fighting for their freedom for many years."

Mr. Arafat said that the new agreement would lead to a "new era of occupation and exploitation of the Palestinian people by the Israelis." He added that the new agreement would "make the world forget the suffering of the Palestinian people and their struggle for freedom."
The establishment of "rehabilitation centres" for African pass law offenders is the latest in a lengthy list of repressive measures directed against black South Africans. In June the government declared that the number of these centres is to be set up in the Transvaal. Anyone who contravenes the pass laws -- and 18.5 million Africans were prosecuted for doing so between 1948 and 1973 -- is liable to detention in the centres for up to six months.

Government spokesmen have made it clear that the purpose of this new move is to pass offenders will have their "political" and "criminal" records improved, so as to "prevent derelicts, criminals and political agitators from obtaining a foothold in the country." Our purpose is to rehabilitate the pass offenders and make them members of society," said the Deputy Minister of Internal Affairs.

This naturally means "compassionate" rehabilitation, with major emphasis on "instructions" in the traditions, culture and customs of the "national" unit to which the detainees are deemed to belong.

The regulations make it plain that only Africans may be detained in the centres; they need only have been arrested (but not necessarily charged or convicted) for breaking the pass laws; alternatively, they must have been declared "idle and undesirable".

The same regulations on secrecy which currently apply to prisoners in the repatriated rural areas will apply to the pass offenders kept in the centres.

The announcement of these new plans raised some protests within South Africa. In the case of those claims, the homestead leaders said they were being "forced to follow" these protesters being banned under the National Registration Act and thus "must be very relieved at the prospect of being deported" together with certain exceptions, the western press.

from Anis-Apartheid News

Massive campaign to stop the Spanish executioner

TEN SPANISH revolutionaries, members of the Maost group FRAP, have been brought before the military tribunal and are likely to get death sentences. Meanwhile the death sentences already imposed on the Basque nationalism leader Jose Antonio Garmendia and Angel Oteagui may be carried out any day.

The already bloodstained hand of the Franco regime, determined to be stopped forever when the Portuguese revolution and its inevitable reflux in Spain, is lashing out with increasing grotesque brutality.

The trial of Garmendia and Oteagui lasted just five hours. Garmendia's conviction was based on a confession, regarded as valid even though his treatment since arrest has reduced him to a mental age of six years. Oteagui was sentenced to be garroted simply for sowing Garmendia after his alleged killing of a Civil Guard.

100,000 workers struck in Euskal Herria (the Basque country) immediately after the death sentence was handed down. In one province, Guipuzcoa, virtually all the workers not currently on holiday joined the strike. In France, especially, a whole series of demonstrations took place in defence of Garmendia and Oteagui.

1000 demonstrated in Bayonne on 27th August; 1000 in Toulouse on 1st September; a demonstration of 3000 and another of 2000 in Paris on 30th August; larger demonstrations again on 1st September and 8th September, and an occupation of the towers of Notre Dame on 1st September, in Britain so far has been there has been one major demonstration, 1000-strong, on 1st September. The "massive campaign to stop the Spanish executioner" has begun.

A LOT OF space in both the left press and the Daily Star newspaper has been devoted to events in Portugal. The situation in Portugal is of course one of the most significant in the world today. The two articles which have been impressed on our minds are of course the remain, the junta, which was, on the one hand, a revolutionary force in the establishment of a new state, and on the other, a revolutionary force in the establishment of a new state.
Death in jail possible if Sabri Genc is deported

From p1 CONVENTION COLLAPSES

BRICKNELL LAUNCHES ANTI-FASCIST CAMPAIGN

Peacemonger protest not enough to stop NAZI HUNTER

Britain — a right Unionist bloc with the SDLP would have the moral weight for Wilson that Michael Foot and his Cabinet have for Britain. There is a statistical concomitant to any such scenario would be assured. The Social Democrats, the Catholic Church, and the Labour Party would be the main protagonists, will demand a repeal of the Immigration Act, and the right-wing parties will take the lead in the struggle against the influx of asylum seekers.

In the Northern Ireland, politics, the peace process is in the middle of the debate. The political boundaries of the Northern Ireland, the situation is an explosive unpredictability. Especially when trying to understand the manœuvreurs, we must not forget that an increase in the number of sectarian pogroms is still an increased threat to the security of the state. And before breasting any signs of relief in the political situation have been postponed, we should not turn a blind eye to the appearance of a new form of sectarianism, which is the best element in the mix of the situation. They will fight. They will be right to fight — and they will be right to stand for what is just.

No re-modelled sectarian 4-county state!

Racist tactics

The real reason for his deportation is that he is a racist, that he is a racist, that he is a racist, that he is a racist, that he is a racist...)

BP&M NJU opt for 12 point plan

AFTER nine weeks locked out by the management, 250 Communist Party workers went on strike at the Birmingham Post and Mail, forcing the management into a 12 point peace plan. During the strike, 12,000 copies per day were sold.

They will demand £13,500 a week for each of the previous cardiologists for the rest of the workers. It is believed that the management will agree to this.

LOCKED OUT

Management have agreed to restore the status quo ante in the offices of the National Union of Journalists Agency, which has consistently backed the locked out NUI members and was threatened with its contract being ended by the Birmingham Post and Mail.

The NUI, which has gained assurances that there will be no further action taken against them that pension rights will be as before.

The National Union of Journalists Agency, which has consistently backed the locked out NUI members and was threatened with its contract being ended by the Birmingham Post and Mail.

MEETINGS

London Workers Fight Socialism: Saturday 15th March, 2 p.m. at the Arts, 79 Hampton Rd, London NW1 Bar till 1 am, buffet, disco by DJs: Free tickets: £100.

COMMUNITY COLLAPSE: "BRICKNELL INTRODUCTORY AND THE TASKS OF THE WORKERS COMMUNITY WORKERS CONFERENCES" Speaker: Sean Magatana, 7.30 p.m., Sunday 21st September, at the Liverpool, 4th Floor.

Bukharin on the Economics of the Transition Period

Communism and Philistinism: the two souls of the Comintern

Seventy-six years since the Red Army invaded Poland

No 12 point plan for Communism and Philistinism: the two souls of the Comintern

The National Front are finding their niche in the political climate. About 40 people attended the recent Front meeting, the first since the recent Front was formed. The meeting was held in the Liverpool, and the room was filled with a thick, brown smell from the cigarettes.

"The National Front are finding their niche in the political climate. About 40 people attended the recent Front meeting, the first since the recent Front was formed. The meeting was held in the Liverpool, and the room was filled with a thick, brown smell from the cigarettes. The meeting was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy.

The meeting was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy. It was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy. It was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy. It was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy. It was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy. It was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy. It was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy.

The meeting was held in the Liverpool, and the room was filled with a thick, brown smell from the cigarettes. The meeting was a lively one, with a lot of polemics on the Front's political strategy.