BOSSES’ MARKET BOSSES’ BRITAIN NO CHOICE DON’T VOTE IRELAND ELECTIONS

A VOTE FOR CIVIL WAR

A COMMUNAL civil war is being waged in Northern Ireland now in the aftermath of the Convention elections, and as a direct result of their demands.

The size of the hard-line Orange supremacist majority is greater than could in advance have been taken as a given. Its leaders have discovered that they have nothing less than a mandate for the long suppression of their supremacy.

Fools

Thus they prove that the real politicians, who decided after last July’s Ulster Workers’ Council (UWC) strike to keep the Convention, which will hammer out the future of Northern Ireland were either 'dull or lunatic'. If only they thought that this would be the road to amicable settlement between the communities, or that they were and are deliberately preparing the way and setting the scene for a restoration of Orange supremacy in the Six Counties.

Whatever their intentions they have enormously strengthened the hand of Unionism.

The工党’s strike of 1973 forced an election on the same lines as the white territory. Northern Ireland released the Six Counties in the Sunningdale Agreement. The Sunningdale Agreement is the sharing agreement. The UWC has firmly cooked up.

If Wilson’s Government could have done something to smash the Orange sectarian general strike last year, it didn’t think for lack of nerve of because it couldn’t take the risk.

Benn’s Row with Steel Chief Finnstion Closure and Disclosure

THE ROW between Wedgwood Benn and Minister for Industry, in the British Steel Corporation, the Steel Workers’ Union, and the BSC Chairman blew the gulf on the night stage of our blood letting血洗 sleeved to cut out the steel workers. Without warning, on Monday, the BSC announced that there was to be a record of 20,000 more redundancies in the British Steel Corporation just happened to coincide with the ‘elevation’ to his BSC portfolio of the mighty little rat who for years was head of the main production workers’ union, the ISTC.

It was an unprecedented move. No British Steel Corporation executive has ever been taken to court by a trade union, never mind for a strike.

The ISTC has been between 16,500 and 20,000 more redundancies in the steel industry over the next four months. At this rate the press was that the ISTC was run by the wreckers. Was he going to bail out the ISTC for the steel workers any industrial agreements? Was he just going to chuck him into an open-hearth furnace? As it turned out, Benn put four questions to Finnstion in written form and gave him a few days to answer them. In the meantime, he hoped to repair some of the public relations damage the steel chief had done. What is crucial is that at no time did Benn ever contradict Finnstion. At no time did he ever regret the redundancies. (That Wedgwood Benn is the loudest voice right now against the steel workers’ wages claim reforces the fact that he is hardly the steel workers’ friend.)

The plan of steel job cuts goes back to the White Paper published in the New Year of 1973. This White Paper proposed the investment of £100 million over a period of ten years. BSC states that full implementation of the new developments, and closures in the strategy would more than double average labour productivity and reduce manpower by about 80,000.

At the first signs of any action by steel workers, the government began to freewheel a bit. It agreed to appeal the wage and the unions. Meanwhile a steady stream of workers was being laid off. The threat of the new closures was already affecting the steel industry.

This game has, of course, not fully been played out yet, but it is clear that the ISTC will proceed with the redundancies. For its part, the ISTC has never had its stain removed by a labour dispute.
ABORTIVE MOVEMENT CONFERENCE ON IRELAND

"After a few months, I realised that the IRA was 'the keeping at all', says a man who served in the British Army during late 1973. 'It became clear that our units in the area were basically trained in the use of firearms. The training was, however, limited to the use of small arms and there was little emphasis on tactics."

At Hollywood interview centre in Ireland at the time, a man says, young men brought in fascinated and bewildered - their only crime was that they were young, black, male, and living in a certain area. These young men were not given any legal aid and the trial was rushed, resulting in a death sentence. It was a case of 'guilt by association'.

This Constitutional Convention is an attempt to bring all the counties of the island together. It is a step towards a united Ireland. The Convention has been called by the British government and is seen as a means of resolving the conflict in Ireland. The Convention is not expected to resolve all the issues, but it is a step towards a dialogue between the two sides.

IN CONCLUSION

The British government is determined to maintain its control over Northern Ireland. The IRA, on the other hand, is determined to continue its struggle for a united Ireland. The Convention is a step towards finding a solution to this conflict. However, it is not clear whether the Convention will succeed in achieving its goal.

A GREAT BRITISH MAY DAY

MAY DAY — international workers' day — was marked in significant fashion by workers' gatherings and rallies in cities by a nationalist anti-British movement. The theme of the day was "State of Repression in the Basque Country".

DIVERSION

That the emotional driving force of this anti-EEC rally was simple dislike of foreigners - all foreigners, including foreign workers and tourists, was clear. The slogan was "No to neo-colonialism", and there was a strong feeling that the British government was exploiting the Basque workers. The rally was a success, and thousands of Basques showed their support for the Basque nationalist movement.

ON THE BASIS OF THE ABOVE

The British government is keen to maintain its control over Northern Ireland. It is determined to prevent any further acts of violence by the IRA. The British government has a clear policy of trying to keep Northern Ireland as part of the United Kingdom. It has been successful in this, with the exception of the recent IRA attack on the British army base. The British government is determined to prevent any further acts of violence by the IRA.

CIVIL WAR Looms IN INVESTORS DREAM LAND

OVER THE LAST YEAR or so, 500 to 1,000 people have been killed by the IRA in the Basque Country. According to South African journalists, the IRA exists as a base of support for business interests in the country. The IRA has developed a network of supporters in the Basque Country, and these supporters are now providing financial support to the IRA. The IRA is able to continue its activities because of the support of these business interests.

THE ORGANISATION

The IRA is a highly organised group, with a clear structure and a clear leadership. The IRA is divided into a number of smaller groups, each of which is responsible for a specific area of operations. The IRA is also well-financed, with the support of wealthy business interests.

ADAPTING

The IRA is continuing to adapt to the changing political situation in the Basque Country. It is becoming more flexible and more willing to consider new strategies. The IRA is also becoming more organised, with a clear structure and a clear leadership.

The IRA is determined to continue its struggle for a united Ireland. It is determined to maintain its control over Northern Ireland. The IRA is determined to prevent any further acts of violence by the IRA. The IRA is determined to maintain its control over Northern Ireland. The IRA is determined to prevent any further acts of violence by the IRA.

FREE-NL

The IRA is determined to continue its struggle for a united Ireland. It is determined to maintain its control over Northern Ireland. The IRA is determined to prevent any further acts of violence by the IRA. The IRA is determined to maintain its control over Northern Ireland. The IRA is determined to prevent any further acts of violence by the IRA.
Arab and Jew in Israel's apartheid society

The interview below was given to Intercontinental Correspondence Agency reporter SHAIKH, who has been hounded as a 'traitor and betrayer of the Holy Land' by establishment for speaking out against the racism of the regime. He is an unemployed schoolteacher who was arrested in the concentration camp, he is Chairman of the Israel League for Human and Civil Rights.

Q. Can you give any current example of how Arab children are being taken and suffered by Arab dissidents?

A. At Tel Aviv University there is an especially distressing example of Arab students, and the following situation: some 500 Israeli students were employed against them.

One of these students, while walking on the campus, every day was ordered to strip down to his underpants in the main entrance to the campus. He was beaten and warned that if they continued to do so, the university committees, they could expect similar treatment in the future.

ONE IN FIVE IS ARRESTED

In addition, aktivists among the Arab students are not allowed to talk with the secret police, for example, they have no right to association. At least 13 Arab students at Tel Aviv still have a commission that is against them.

The köpek, or the police dog, roams the streets in protest, is forbidden. Furthermore, the ban on political parties is applied. Furthermore, the ban on political parties, the ban on political activities, the ban on political papers, the ban on political meetings.

Q. What about the situation in the occupied territories?

A. The situation in the occupied territories is particularly bad because there the people have no rights of any kind. For example, the jails are not open to the public. In addition, the movement of any person, however small, is looked upon as a crime.

During demonstrations in the occupied territories, all political activities are prohibited. People are allowed to vote only in the election of the Jewish high priest, who is never elected. The only right that they have is the right to resist.
In the USA, where about 1000 rapes happen every day, women campaigning on the issue have highlighted the almost judicial bias in favour of rapists, and the fact that the law seems to as much to protect the screw as the victim. If the attacker has a previous record of rape, it may not be brought into the case — yet there are no limits to leasing the victim's story or bringing in her sex life. In many cases, the investigation which will determine the verdict on him is conducted in "California, uncharged character" is admissible evidence. Six objections are relied heavily on for previous marital virginity. After all, if the victim was not a virgin, how could she have been raped? When rape is so bizarre and shocking, everyone, even a woman, needs a corroborating witness who witnessed or heard the assault.

Now some provisions go anywhere so far toward protecting the rapist as last week's already notorious ruling of the British Lords. According to which if a man only fantasizes as himself as Clark Gable giving a woman "what she wants" despite all her resistance, he can get away with it.

There has been, at least, an outcry against their Lordships, and Jack Ashley MP has given notice that he will fight to get the Lords overruled. But if few or any commentators have asked how such a ruling could have been made at all.

The real threat, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.

What is rape, in this view, but a rather violent version of Sleeping Beauty, who even from the unconscious is brought alive by a kiss? The rapist, like the Prince, knows what's best for the victim, so he takes her. Of course, the victim has not only a legal sanction to protect her, but a legal protection as well. Women, after all, can't be raped by their husbands, who have conjugal rights to over-ride any refusal.

According to police opinion, the vast majority of women — the vast majority of women — are raped, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.

What is rape, in this view, but a rather violent version of Sleeping Beauty, who even from the unconscious is brought alive by a kiss? The rapist, like the Prince, knows what's best for the victim, so he takes her. But women, after all, can't be raped by their husbands, who have conjugal rights to override any refusal.

According to police opinion, the vast majority of women — the vast majority of women — are raped, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.

What is rape, in this view, but a rather violent version of Sleeping Beauty, who even from the unconscious is brought alive by a kiss? The rapist, like the Prince, knows what's best for the victim, so he takes her. But women, after all, can't be raped by their husbands, who have conjugal rights to override any refusal.

According to police opinion, the vast majority of women — the vast majority of women — are raped, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.

What is rape, in this view, but a rather violent version of Sleeping Beauty, who even from the unconscious is brought alive by a kiss? The rapist, like the Prince, knows what's best for the victim, so he takes her. But women, after all, can't be raped by their husbands, who have conjugal rights to override any refusal.

According to police opinion, the vast majority of women — the vast majority of women — are raped, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.

What is rape, in this view, but a rather violent version of Sleeping Beauty, who even from the unconscious is brought alive by a kiss? The rapist, like the Prince, knows what's best for the victim, so he takes her. But women, after all, can't be raped by their husbands, who have conjugal rights to override any refusal.

According to police opinion, the vast majority of women — the vast majority of women — are raped, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.

What is rape, in this view, but a rather violent version of Sleeping Beauty, who even from the unconscious is brought alive by a kiss? The rapist, like the Prince, knows what's best for the victim, so he takes her. But women, after all, can't be raped by their husbands, who have conjugal rights to override any refusal.

According to police opinion, the vast majority of women — the vast majority of women — are raped, and probably also a high proportion of rape crimes, all arise from a common root: the prevalent sexual violence at large and the sexual violence of crime and meanness. The major sexual theme which appears over and over in today's books, films, and newspapers and songs is the drama of conquest and submission: the male takes the initiative and the female waits — nagging, crying, coyly, shyly, angrily and, in the variation that's obviously in the Law Lords' minds, even amusingly.
ASTMS IN CONFERENCE

WILL THE 'ELITE'

COME DOWN TO

EARTH

ON THEAgenda for this week's ASTMS Annual Delegate Meeting is a resolution earlyly opposed to the union's proposed General branch calls for the worst over its motion, that the union's may 'be removed from this text in the statement that: "Do you can be sure and giving us for the role of with mounting unemployment profit share, the professional adequate, and academic staff of ASTMS are long-term consequences they are one of the reasons for the the rapid growth of the union and conditions baring.

LEFT IMAGE

Clive Jenkins, general secretary of ASTMS, said the layoffs of been able to cultivate a left-wing very right wing policies. He a National Executive Committee Socialist Labour Party who has taken out a writ against the impounding the union's Tories is more intelligible: he has shown he's not a

CONTROL N HS

In the hands of such Clive Jenkins, these policies are members in making the capitalist economy, and assis the bureaucratic rationalisation of capitalism.

In these times, however, present Contract. Two motions from for the raising of the compliance, to cover a few companies for independent workers as the first step towards The motions are mark he can get the control be imple plemented by the Labour government.

TROOPS OUT

On Ireland, again, London West End has been put forward not only the first supporting on the NCG campaign for and why the Jamaica Labour Party Island of Tortuga, the fundamental justice of the
and the Trans
against the British army.

Music -

way into the future?

Comrades - I found with interest Sue Apsel's article. Cutting back the campaign (as ASTMS Women's Workshops). The same with DHSS abolition of

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

More useful in terms of
and file
ASTMS Health Service
and women's health services,
examining the day to day

clashes with
workers' control, and so on.

Clive Jenkins

TWO TIMES he is more
he has shown he's not a

NATIONALISM

Turning over in the

Hudson Pace reviews "FANSHEN"

There is a play 'about revolution'
which is, if the barman there is packin' em in at the Institute of the movie road from the events in a tiny Chinese Japanese by Maco's army, and who are now being
about to bring Fanshen (literally
turn over) to a place that was,
by European standards, still

FORMAL

There are exciting incidents.
The scenes in which the
the landlords are turfed
are with real, and the play is quite good.

For instance, Tao Yuan is a
father who wants to add
his wife for burial. For the reason he has bought
the number of times
which died Peking
by the landlords for his
he asks about his feelings
what had sold his wife
but in love. Because for his sake, because his
the landlord family
heavy, he has to buy
the house down.
China copout with
addiction, life, and old age,
people like Tao Yuan.
The actor playing him
been shang-a-lin

play's paupers were no more

GLOSSY

Instead of creating a form which
are designed to let you see very attractive. Character stands under cover of Brezhnev's theoretical
whos been taken
the forms of official party
trapping the

Space, characters,
which were never intended to clarify or reveal reality, but are

Glossy, instead of us to the stage at the
are just
very attractive. Certainly, if it more revolutionary content and Let's revolutionize it, it

Split

However, art cannot create little
the existing bourgeois society. Only who don't see that the existing
the split between

"FANSHEN"

instead of creating a form which
are designed to let you see
very attractive. Character stands
under cover of Brezhnev's theoretical
whos been taken
the forms of official party
trapping the

Space, characters,
which were never intended to
clarify or reveal reality, but are

Glossy, instead of
us to the stage at the
are just
very attractive. Certainly, if it more revolutionary content and Let's revolutionize it, it

"FANSHEN"

Clive Jenkins

J.W. Harding

Music -

way into the future?

Comrades - I found with interest
Sue Apsel's article. Cutting back the

ASTMS Women's Workshops). The same
with DHSS abolition of

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

More useful in terms of
and file
ASTMS Health Service
and women's health services,
examining the day to day

clashes with
workers' control, and so on.

Clive Jenkins

TWO TIMES he is more
he has shown he's not a

NATIONALISM

Turning over in the

Hudson Pace reviews "FANSHEN"

There is a play 'about revolution'
which is, if the barman there is
packin' em in at the Institute of
the movie road from
the events in a tiny Chinese Japanese by Maco's army, and
who are now being
about to bring Fanshen (literally
turn over) to a place that was,
by European standards, still

FORMAL

There are exciting incidents.
The scenes in which the
the landlords are turfed
are with real, and the play is quite good.

For instance, Tao Yuan is a
father who wants to add
his wife for burial. For
the reason he has bought
the number of times
which died Peking
by the landlords for his
he asks about his feelings
what had sold his wife
but in love. Because
for his sake, because his
the landlord family
heavy, he has to buy
the house down.
China copout with
addiction, life, and old age,
people like Tao Yuan.
The actor playing him
been shang-a-lin

play's paupers were no more

GLOSSY

Instead of creating a form which
are designed to let you see
very attractive. Character stands
under cover of Brezhnev's theoretical
whos been taken
the forms of official party
trapping the

Space, characters,
which were never intended to
clarify or reveal reality, but are

Glossy, instead of
us to the stage at the
are just
very attractive. Certainly, if it more revolutionary content and Let's revolutionize it, it

Split

However, art cannot create little
the existing bourgeois society. Only
who don't see that the existing
the split between

"FANSHEN"

instead of creating a form which
are designed to let you see
very attractive. Character stands
under cover of Brezhnev's theoretical
whos been taken
the forms of official party
trapping the

Space, characters,
which were never intended to
clarify or reveal reality, but are

Glossy, instead of
us to the stage at the
are just
very attractive. Certainly, if it more revolutionary content and Let's revolutionize it, it

"FANSHEN"

Clive Jenkins

J.W. Harding
CLOSURE/DISCLOSURE

Where SOE is engaged in a policy of "shut-out" rather than increased productivity, the future of jobs should be discussed. The government has a policy: "no cover." Either SOE is restructured or the workers go elsewhere. It is no case, no covenant.

When Labour got into power, the workers hoped for a change. The first workers at Khel nervous, the fact that the announcement of MNP huge redundancies would create the conditions of the Labour government's most clear evidence of the statement that the plan does not have to go to other areas. If the Labour government said, "We need to make earnings and productivity levels lower," the redundancies would still be introduced. If the Labour government said, "We need to make earnings and productivity levels lower," the redundancies would still be introduced.

The Clydeside Iron Works, Greenock and Lanarkshire open-hearth foundries. The Clydeside siting mill will be closed. The last part of closure, the most recent closings being in the shipbuilding industry, a small part of the East Moors. And what of the Iron and Steel Trades Confederation (ISTC), the main union in the steel industry, in an "alternative approach" to the redundancies. They do not even claim that the redundancies have a major effect on the redundancies. But it is very clear that the redundancies have a major effect on the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. The ISTC is very concerned about the redundancies. They have taken up the demand for no loss of redundancy and will work towards the establishment of a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have also been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies. They have been calling for a "negative covenant" in the redundancies.