

AWL online educational resources

Workers' Liberty online talks and discussions

See here: <https://www.facebook.com/Online-Workers-Liberty-110812350491484/>

Workers Liberty page on online meetings and resources:

<https://www.workersliberty.org/c19-online>

Online educational resources

The web page <http://www.workersliberty.org/study>, contains a lot of educational resources, many of them tried, tested, and revised over years.

A few selections

- Marx's Capital: <https://www.workersliberty.org/study#capital>

This course is the latest revision, based on many decades of experience and repeated revisions.

Also there are:

- a series of 19 short videos on Capital, which can be used as "starters" to introduce study-group sessions
- links to extensive background notes and comments. The background notes include detailed critical comments on David Harvey's online course, chapter-by-chapter.

Capital is available online in audio format at <https://www.marxists.org/audiobooks/archive/marx-engels/capital-vol1/index.htm>

- Introduction to Workers' Liberty: <https://www.workersliberty.org/study#101>

13-session study course on "Introduction to Workers' Liberty"

- The Russian revolution and its fate: <https://www.workersliberty.org/study#russia>

Includes:

- Study notes on Trotsky's History of the Russian Revolution, structured in the "key passage" format. Complements online study course: <https://www.facebook.com/events/1460046277489790/>
- Study guide to The Fate of the Russian Revolution, volume 1.
- Study guide to The Two Trotskyisms Confront Stalinism.

- The revolutionary Party <https://www.workersliberty.org/study#party>

Includes:

- Study course on Pierre Broué's The German Revolution 1917-1923.
- Study course on Lenin's What Is To Be Done?
- Study course on Gramsci's Prison Notebooks.

- Left wing films <https://www.workersliberty.org/story/2014/02/20/left-wing-films>